NUMBER 10

TREGO COUNTY HIGH SCHOOL.

WA-KEENEY, Kansas, April 10, 1906. To the Honorable Board of Trustees of Trego County High School.

Gentlemen:—I have the honor to submit herewith my report for the seven months of school ending March 23, 1906.

The record of attendance, deportment, etc., has been one of which we have just reason to feel proud.

	Enrollment.	Attendance.	Tardiness.
Seniors	4	96.4	32
Juniors	8	92.3	35
Sophomores	19	93.1	45
Freshmen	21	94.7	50
Totals	52	93.6	152

The number enrolled whose homes are not in the city is 26. This you will notice is just one-half of the total enrollment, and speaks well for the first year's interest from the country and adjoining counties.

You have had no cases of misconduct or unpleasantness to deal with as a board, nor have we as teachers had occasion to use even strenuous measures to keep the students in step. We attribute this to the fact that we as teachers, have in every way in our power endeavored to hold up the highest ideals, and not only demand them of the students, but live up to them ourselves. The mild nature can be pestered into obstinacy or rebellion, and so can the most furious nature be subdued by kindness. Put into a human heart a desire to please someone, somehow, be it ever so slight, and you have stepped toward the subduing of the most turbulent nature, or arousing the most sluggish.

Since the visit of our board, we have had encouraging and helpful talks from Messrs. Everett, Scott, Ericson and Purcell, and we have the assurance from others that they will visit us and give us the encouragement which they can.

There is a bright future awaiting the citizens of Trego if they will embrace it. Send all the students of the high school who have acquitted themselves nobly out into your schools, there to give of their abilities and enthusiasm and your country will be repaid many times over for such expenditures as you have made.

Respectfully submitted,

J. H. NIESLEY, Principal.

The Democratic Candidate for Governor.

The remnant of the democratic party in Kansas seems to be delighted with the personnel of the ticket which that party put in the field at the recent state convention. For the democratic party of Kansas to have a ticket that commands the esteem and confidence of the party is such a novelty and so surprising that the "old liner" now feels like a boy with a new toy. Mr. Harris, the candidate for governor, is a man of fair ability, of courteous and dignified bearing and in his public service has impressed the people favorably. We do not want to say a word that will detract from Mr. Harris as an agreeable and affable gentleman, but as a statesman he is over-estimated and as a "corporation hater" misunderstood. He is not the superior of Governor Hoch in any particular except that he is more cautious and discreet in his public utterances. The attempt to compare him with Folk of Missouri shows that those who are supporting him most enthusiastically do not know the personality of their candidate. Harris has none of the qualities of the distinguished Missouri governor. He is conservative and not in any sense bold and aggressive. If he had been circuit attorney of St. Louis when Folk was, he never would have been heard of outside the city. He would have been popular with Butler as well as with the respectable element of the St. Louis population because he would have been polite to all and offensive to none. He has fought the Union Pacific railroad with some vigor but has always been on the most cordial relations with the Missouri Pacific. He is considered by the corporations today as a "safe man," which means that they are not afraid of his using his influence against them very hard. He has a happy faculty of harmonizing the opposition to the republican party. He was acceptable to the populist during the reign of that party in this state and at the same time held the support of the gold democrats. The democratic state platform practically endorses free silver and the gold standard, tariff reform, free trade and protection, Cleveland, Baker and Bryan and no man can place himself on such a platform more comfortable than Mr. Harris. If he should happen to be elected those who expect him to become a reform governor will be sorely disappointed. He will acquit himself with becoming dignity, get along courteously with everybody and do nothing outside of the ordinary routine. He will be less aggressive than Stanley, less factional than Bailey, less demonstrative than Hoch and superior to none of them in any particular unless it be political discretion. He would make a better governor than Leedy, but not so good as Morrill. He is ultra-democratic in all his ideas and there is no reason why any republican should vote for him.—Salina Journal, May 1.

The above article was written by J. L. Bristow, formerly Fourth Assistant Postmaster General, in which capacity he learned the true characteristics of Senator Harris.

The U. S. convention held here Sunday was considered the best meeting of the kind ever held here. Banner and Wa-Keeney were well represented and Collyer had three who attended.

The enterprising little town of Banner believes in having a factory of some kind to boom the town. Mr. Hawkes and Mr. Glenn are contemplating erecting a sorghum mill for the manufacturing of fine molasses, and hope the farmers will all plant cane and have their supply of molasses made at home. As this is an indispensable article of consumption in all homes, it will no doubt prove a success in all respects. The gentlemen have all their machinery, pans, etc., necessary, ordered and will erect a mill in a few days and everyone should help to make it a profitable branch of industry in the little town.

On Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock at her home south of town, Laura, the beloved wife of Norman Redmond, passed away at the early age of 28 years. Mrs. Redmond was the daughter of our respected townsman, J. D. Briggs, and by her cheerful disposition and kindness had endeared herself to all who knew her and her sudden and unexpected death was a terrible shock to her family, relatives and friends, but not wholly unlooked for by herself, as she calmly resigned herself to pass to the world beyond and made a request to all her relatives and expressed cheerfully her last wishes and closed her eyes and peacefully passed away. She leaves besides her husband and four small children, her aged father and several brothers and sisters to mourn her untimely death. Her funeral, which was one of the largest ever held here was a mark of the wide respect in which she was held. The entire community extend heartfelt sympathy to all the family in this irreparable loss.

Kansas City Markets.

Stock Yards, Kansas City, Mo., Tuesday, May 8th, 1906.

The liberal cattle supply the first of last week has been duplicated this week. The general market is 10 to 20 cents above a week ago, including a small gain made yesterday, steady today. Top steers are selling at $5.40 to $5.75 this week, top today $5.70, but the market has not been tested with strictly prime steers; they would bring $6.00 or more. A feature since the middle of last week is the flattening out of the stocker and feeder market. Prices on these are 15 to 25 cents lower, and trade is drab. Choice feeders sold at $5.15 a week ago, but the best cattle are selling at $4.50 to $4.70 this week, bulk of the stockers $3.75 to $4.50. Prices on country grades were too high last week, but the steady improvement in the beef steer market will soon restore conditions in stockers and feeders. Southern Kansas pastures are filled up with Texas cattle, which eliminates a large share of the demand for stock cattle from that state. A good many parties are still looking for locations for pasturing Texas steers, although, of course, the big bulk of that moment is over. Butcher stuff is selling well in line with beef steers, veals holding up also, but immense supplies of dairy calves are going on eastern markets now, depressing tendency. Bulk of the beef steers sell at $4.65 to $5.30, as proportion of well finished stuff is small. Top yearlings lately sold at $5.40, heifers and yearlings mixed at $4.00 to $5.30, bulk of heifers $4.00 to $4.75, cows $3.25 to $4.50, bulls $3.25 to $4.25, veals $4.50 to $6.00, feeders $4.00 to $4.70, stockers $3.50 to $4.50.

The hog market declined 20 cents last week, on receipts of 61,000 head. Supply today is 17,000 head, market strong to 5 higher, top $6.35, which is 74 cents above Saturday, bulk of sales $6.15 to $6.30, light hogs $6.10 to $6.25, pigs $5.10 to $5.55. The talk is usually in favor of lower prices soon, but the demand is strongest it has been before this season, in fact some of the buyers did not secure enough hogs to fill orders today, liberal as was the supply.

Mutton and lamb prices are a shade higher this week. About the last of the woolled lambs are coming now, selling at $7.15 to $7.30 today, with some common ones at $6.65 and $6.75. Good clipped lambs bring $6.00 to $6.25, clipped wethers and yearlings $5.00 to $5.60. A string of shorn Texas grass muttons, 90 pound, sold today at $5.40. Small receipts are likely for a while, and a good market. Run today 6500.
